WOW All those additional features! How much do I have to pay?

How About Less than your paying for your current radios!

The CP150 Models are used in systems when low power (2 watts) is all that is needed to cover your intended area.

The CP200 Models are used when higher power (4 watts) is needed to penetrate barriers to maintain communications.

Both radios are available with 4 or 16 channel capability and a wide range of customizable features that let you communicate the way you want and they are compatible with the audio accessories you may already be using.

All this at a price less then you are used to paying for similar style radios.

Call us now and start replacing those older worn out radios with a radio made for the future.

Radios are ready for delivery and come complete with 1100mAh battery, charger, antenna, belt clip, programming and a 2 year warranty. Call now for more information on how you can start using this innovative new style radio on your job.
